Nevada Bar No. 12242

Attorneys for Defendants Real Social Dynamics, Inc., Nicholas Kho, and Owen Cook

1 MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

2 I. INTRODUCTION

3 In his motion, Plaintiff seeks declaratory judgment pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 2201 and FRCP 57
4 to find that the non-competition and non-solicitation clauses of the July 27, 2004 Real Social Dynamics
5 Contractor Agreement (“Contractor Agreement”) between Plaintiff and Defendant RSD are void and 6 unenforceable. However, Plaintiff’s Motion fails to demonstrate the absence of any genuine issue of 7 material fact to justify entry of summary judgment in its favor. Instead, Plaintiff moves for the entry
8 of summary judgment by inappropriately attempting to convince this Court to act prematurely with 9 regard to restrictive covenants which are not at issue, which no party has violated, and which could 10 only be put at issue if Plaintiff chooses to do so.

11 Based upon the arguments made in Plaintiff’s Motion, as well as the arguments presented
12 herein, Plaintiff cannot prevail on its claims as a matter of law and Defendants respectfully request
13 that Plaintiff’s Motion be denied in its entirety.

14 II. STATEMENT OF UNDISPUTED FACTS

15 To avoid burdening the court with duplicative statements of undisputed fact, Defendants
16 incorporate paragraphs 1 through 17 of Plaintiff’s Statement of Undisputed Facts from his Motion,
17 and request for judicial notice thereof. Only paragraph 18 from Plaintiff’s Statement of Undisputed 18 Facts from his Motion is disputed by Defendants as examined below.

19 III. STATEMENT OF DISPUTED FACTS

20 The following material facts are in dispute:

21 1. Neither Plaintiff nor Defendant has alleged a breach of the non-competition or non-22 solicitation clauses of the Contractor Agreement.

23 2. Neither Plaintiff nor Defendant has based a cause of action against the other on a breach 24 or violation of the non-competition or non-solicitation clauses of the Contractor Agreement.

25 3. Plaintiff has not articulated any facts or events to demonstrate either party has breached
26 the non-competition or non-solicitation clauses of the Contractor Agreement.

27 4. Plaintiff has not articulated any facts or events to demonstrate either party will breach
28 the non-competition or non-solicitation clauses of the Contractor Agreement.

1 5. Plaintiff's "undisputed fact" No. 18 alleges that: "The Operating Agreement is separate
 2 and distinct from the Contractor Agreement, and the subject matter of the two do not overlap." See 3 ECF No. 42 at p. 4. Plaintiff's employment by RSD was governed by the Contractor Agreement,
 4 which stayed in effect until Plaintiff's termination for cause on August 14, 2017. See Todd Vandehey
 5 RSD Contractor Agreement, attached hereto as Exhibit 1. Defendant disputes any implication that 6 the rights and obligations defined within the Valentine Life Operating Agreement did not overlap or 7 otherwise implicate the Contractor Agreement. See Valentine Life Operating Agreement, attached
 8 hereto as Exhibit 2.

9 6. The Valentine Life PayPal Account linked to todd@valentinelife.com is a business
 10 asset created, owned, and operated by RSD, the assets of which were depleted without authorization
 11 by Plaintiff to purchase sex toys, erotica, and adult/escort services.

12 7. Plaintiff's Gmail account tvandehey@gmail.com is a business asset of RSD, and was 13 used by Plaintiff for RSD client customer service, RSD client fulfillment, and the creation of RSD
 14 social media as well as other RSD business accounts.

15 IV. LEGAL ARGUMENT

16 A. LEGAL STANDARD

17 Summary judgment is appropriate if the pleadings, discovery responses, and affidavits 18 demonstrate the lack of any genuine issue of material fact, and that the moving party is entitled to 19 judgment as a matter of law. Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(a), (c). "The very object of summary judgment is to 20 separate real and genuine issues from those that are formal or pretended, so that only the former may 21 subject the moving party to the burden of trial." Radobenko v. Automated Equip. Corp., 520 F.2d 540, 22 544 (9th Cir. 1975).

23 A fact is material if it "might affect the outcome of the suit under the governing law." Anderson
 24 v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 248 (1986). An issue is "genuine" when "the evidence is such 25 that a reasonably jury could return a verdict for the nonmoving party." Id. In analyzing a motion for 26 summary judgment, all evidence must be viewed, and all reasonable inferences made, in the light most 27 favorable to the nonmoving party. Matsushita Electric Industrial Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S.
 28 574, 586 (1986).

1 The moving party bears the initial burden of establishing the absence of a genuine issue of 2 material fact. See Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 323-24 (1986). That burden may be met by 3 “showing” – that is, pointing out to the district court – that there is an absence of evidence to support
 4 the nonmoving party’s case.” Id. at 325. Therefore, the moving party must show that no rational jury
 5 could view the evidence presented and still find for the nonmoving party. See Anderson, 477 U.S. at 6 254. Furthermore, if the moving party meets its initial burden, Rule 56(e) requires the nonmoving
 7 party to go beyond the pleadings and identify facts which show a genuine issue for trial. See id. at 8 323-24; Fairbank v. Wunderman Cato Johnson, 212 F.3d 528, 531 (9th Cir. 2000).

9 B. DECLARATORY JUDGMENT REGARDING THE NON-COMPETITION AND NON-
 10 SOLICITATION CLAUSES OF THE CONTRACTOR AGREEMENT IS INAPPROPRIATE.

11 Plaintiff argues that he is “entitled to declaratory judgment adjudicating that the Non-12 Competition and Non-Solicitation Clauses of the Contractor Agreement are void and enforceable.”
 13 See ECF No. 42 at p. 7. Plaintiff further states that “[t]he enforceability of the Non-Competition and 14 Non-Solicitation Clauses is an actual controversy between Plaintiff and Defendants.” Id. (emphasis 15 added). However, there is no cause of action brought by Defendants alleging a breach of these clauses.
 16 In fact, at this time, there are no facts known to Defendant to even support such a claim.

17 Plaintiff cites no specific controversy or facts showing divergent or adverse legal interests with 18 regard to these restrictive covenants. Instead, Plaintiff appears to believe the ripeness of this issue can 19 be artificially accelerated if the issue “might” occur. See ECF No. 42 at p. 7 (“Defendants’ termination 20 of Plaintiff...raises the specter that the overly-broad provisions of the Non-Competition and Non-21 Solicitation Clauses of the Contractor Agreement might be enforced against the Plaintiff.”) (emphasis 22 added). Plaintiff is requesting declaratory relief on a hypothetical scenario that neither party has yet 23 to articulate.

24 Even more curious, the only party with the ability to breach these covenants is the Plaintiff
 25 himself. In other words, Plaintiff is arguing that he might violate terms of the Contractor Agreement,
 26 and if/when he does, he wants to be sure that those future breaches of contract have been previously 27 permitted by the court.

28 Even the case law cited by Plaintiff supporting this specious argument is done so with little

1 regard to the full context of the Court's words:

2 The difference between an abstract question and a 'controversy' contemplated by the 3 Declaratory Judgment Act is necessarily one of degree, and it would be difficult, if it
 4 would be possible, to fashion a precise test for determining in every case whether there 5 is such a controversy. Basically, the question in each case is whether the facts alleged, under all the circumstances, show that there is a substantial controversy, between parties having adverse legal interests, of sufficient immediacy and reality to warrant the issuance of a declaratory judgment.

6 Maryland Cas. Co. v. Pacific Coal & Oil Co., 312 U.S. 270, 273 (1941) (emphasis added). Plaintiff
 7 omits the contrast between 'controversy', and an abstract question, which is what he is offering this 8 Court: the abstract question, "are these restrictive covenants void/unreasonable?" There is no
 9 controversy on these covenants, and there is no immediacy to warrant a declaratory judgment.

10 Plaintiff rests his argument on two facts. One, the parties have adverse legal interests. This is 11 undeniably true as the litigation thus far between the parties clearly illustrates. But, their adverse legal 12 interests does not entail disputes over the non-solicitation and non-competition clauses of the 13 Contractor Agreement. Two, Defendants mention both restrictive covenants in their Demand for 14 Arbitration. However, Defendants bring no cause of action or speak to the enforcement or validity of 15 the covenants. Defendants only mention that the clauses exist, not that they are to be enforced.

16 C. THE NON-COMPETITION AND NON-SOLICITATION CLAUSES OF THE CONTRACTOR
 17 AGREEMENT ARE ENFORCEABLE.

18 Even though the restrictive covenants are not ripe for declaratory judgment per Count One of 19 Plaintiff's Amended Complaint, Defendant maintains that the clauses themselves are still valid and 20 enforceable.

21 1. A Five (5) Year Time Restriction in the Defendant's Industry is Reasonable.

22 A restrictive covenant on employment should be upheld if it is reasonably necessary to protect 23 the business and goodwill of the employer. FLS Transportation Services (USA) Inc. v. Casillas, No.
 24 3:17-cv-00013-MMD-VPC, 2017 WL 4127980, at *6 (D. Nev. Sept. 18, 2017) (citing Jones v. Deeter, 25 913 P.2d 1272, 1275 (Nev. 1996)). The amount of time the covenant lasts, the territory it covers, and 26 the hardship imposed upon the person restricted are factors for the court to consider in determining 27 whether such a covenant is reasonable. Id.

1 Here, the restrictive covenant prohibits Plaintiff from competing with RSD for five (5) years
 2 after leaving RSD's employ. This is not unreasonable because the industry in which the parties
 3 conduct themselves rests entirely upon unique dating instructors promoting themselves as a brand.
 4 The look, style, and technique of each instructor cannot be duplicated, just like actors or musicians.
 5 Thus, RSD will incur losses from no longer promoting Vandehey or selling his products, because it
 6 will take a substantial amount of time to build a new brand around a new instructor.

7 2. An Eight (8) City Territory Restriction is Reasonable.

8 The non-competition restriction also places a reasonable eight (8) city restriction on Plaintiff's
 9 future business for the following five (5) years. Plaintiff distorts this restriction to be a global ban.
 10 See ECF No. 42 at p. 13.

11 The Nevada Supreme Court adopted the view that the territory in which the employer
 12 established customer contacts and good will must be the area in the agreement that is the territorial 13 restriction in the covenant not to compete. Camco, Inc. v. Baker, 113 Nev. 512, 520, 936 P.2d 829,
 14 834 (1997). Similarly here, due to the nature of RSD's business it is not unreasonable to request that 15 certain metropolitan areas where its customers are concentrated be off limits to former employees.
 16 The provisions of the covenant not to compete are not beyond what is necessary to protect RSD's
 17 interests. The purpose of a covenant not to compete is to prevent the use of a company's trade secrets
 18 and proprietary information by a former employee, which is exactly the risk RSD is looking to mitigate 19 with Vandehey.

20 3. Plaintiff's Will Not Suffer Undue Hardship.

21 Enforcement of the restrictive covenants will not unduly restrict Plaintiff from finding gainful
 22 employment in a position that does not involve coaching men on how to date or speak to women. RSD
 23 operates in a very specific line of work in a narrow industry, therefore it should not be any hardship
 24 for Plaintiff to find another job. Had the contract restricted Plaintiff from working in any business 25 involving dating, then such a restricting would likely be overbroad.

26 However, the 9th Circuit has held that the "reason for the termination of the parties' relationship
 27 matters." Ajilon Professional Staffing, LLC v. Griffin, No. CV-09-561-PHX-DGC, 2009 WL
 28 976522, at *1 (D. Ariz. Apr. 10, 2009). Where the application of the non-compete provision results

1 from the desire of an employee to end his relationship with his employer rather than from any
 2 wrongdoing by the employer, a court should be hesitant to find undue hardship. Id. Here, Vandehey
 3 embezzled and/or wrongfully converted over $812,000.00 from RSD.¹ An employee who defrauds
 4 and embezzles from his employer cannot be heard to complain about the hardship of enforcing a non-5 compete provision.

6 D. THE COURT HAS DISCRETION TO REVISE THE NON-COMPETITION AND NON-
 7 SOLICITATION CLAUSES.

8 Even if the court finds a five-year period to be too long to enforce, or the geographic areas to 9 be too large, other portions of the covenant not to compete and non-solicitation clauses should still be 10 enforced. In Nevada, covenants not to compete lasting two years have been found enforceable based 11 on that length of time. Camco, Inc. v. Baker, 113 Nev. 512, 520. Defendants' business involves many 12 trade secrets and operational tactics that took years to develop, revise, and implement. Plaintiff should 13 not be allowed to simply avoid the entire breadth of the non-compete and non-solicitation clauses that 14 he voluntarily signed. Doing so would be prejudicial and unjust to Defendant RSD.

15 In Hansen v. Edwards, the Nevada Supreme Court reviewed a restriction from competition in 16 an employment contract of a podiatrist, finding that "the substantial risk of losing patients to an 17 employee is itself an adequate basis for a reasonably designed restraint." 83 Nev. 189, 192, 426 P.2d
 18 792, 793. Although the court in Hansen found that the non-compete agreement, which contained no
 19 time limitation and a prohibition from competition within 100 miles, was too restrictive, the court did 20 preserve the validity of the contract by modifying the covenant, reducing the geographic scope, and 21 applying a length of one year. Id. at 193. With these judicial modifications, the covenant was deemed 22 valid and enforceable. Id.

23 Similarly, in Ellis v. McDaniel, the court considered the reasonableness of a restriction
 24 prohibiting competition in the practice of medicine as applied to an orthopedic surgeon. 95 Nev. 455,
 25 596 P.2d 222 (1979). The restrictive covenant was a two-year restriction from competition within a
 26 radius of five miles from the city of Elko. Id. The court found that the terms of the covenant were

27
 28 ¹ Defendant's allegations against Plaintiff include, but are not limited to: Theft of RSD audio/visual equipment, RSD email lists, RSD videos, and RSD website server access.

1 reasonable with respect to the doctor's practice of general medicine, but because there were no other
 2 orthopedic specialists on staff with his old employer or in the area, it was not reasonable to prohibit
 3 his specialty practice of orthopedic surgery. Id. The covenant was judicially modified in that regard
 4 while maintaining the time and space limitations which were upheld. Id. at 459-460. Thus, the broad
 5 and general covenant prohibiting the practice of medicine was found to be reasonable, but for public
 6 policy reasons, and due to the recognition of the need for the specialty service to the public, this court
 7 exercised its equitable powers and judicially modified the covenant to allow the practice of orthopedic
 8 surgery despite the prohibition. Id.

9 Likewise, in Camco, Inc. v. Baker, in interpreting a restriction prohibiting any position with an 10 enterprise engaging in the pawn or check cashing business, the court did not object to the two-year
 11 restriction imposed, but it did find the territorial limitations to be overly restraining. 113 Nev. 512, 12 936 P.2d 829 (1997). The territorial limit restricted competition within 50 miles of any store that was 13 existing or under construction, or "within 50 miles of any area which was the target of a corporate plan
 14 of expansion." Id. at 519-520. In determining the scope was unreasonable, this court found that "to 15 be reasonable, the territorial restriction should be limited to the territory in which [the former 16 employer] established customer contacts and good will." Id. at 521.

17 Applying the legal principles above, even if this court finds the non-competition and non-
 18 solicitation clauses in the Contractor Agreement unreasonable or unenforceable in their current form, 19 it may revise or modify their text to render them reasonable and enforceable.

20 E. PLAINTIFF IS FABRICATING A DISPUTE REGARDING THE RESTRICTIVE COVENANTS
 21 WITHIN THE CONTRACTOR AGREEMENT TO IMPEDE ARBITRATION.

22 Plaintiff argues: "Defendants apparently are of the position that the enforceability of the Non-23 Competition and Non-Solicitation Clauses should be addressed by an arbitrator rather than this court."
 24 See ECF No. 42 at p. 15. Defendants' have never taken that position, nor have they even implied it.
 25 Until Plaintiff's instant Motion, there has never been a single dispute raised by either party regarding 26 the enforceability of the restrictive covenants. Plaintiff is concocting disputes and clashes where none
 27 exist. Even the citation to Defendant's Demand for Arbitration, allegedly putting the enforceability
 28 of the covenants at issue, is nothing more than a bland recitation of the clauses themselves. They are

1 not accompanied by allegations of wrongdoing or demands to enforce their terms.

2 Plaintiff argues at length under the precedent of the Whitemaine case, to convince this court
3 that two legal instruments (i.e. the Contractor Agreement and the Valentine Life Operating 4 Agreement) cannot be joined as a single contract. See Whitemaine v. Aniskovich, 124 Nev. 302, 308-
5 309, 183 P.3d 137, 141-142 (2008). The logic being that if the agreements are separate, and given
6 that the Contractor Agreement lacks an arbitration provision, then Plaintiff can keep a viable claim in 7 this court and thus out of arbitration. However, Plaintiff's pedantic analysis and conclusion is entirely
8 irrelevant because no facts exist that bring the restrictive covenants within the Contractor Agreement
9 into dispute. Without a dispute, or claim of damages, or even underlying facts, there is nothing to 10 arbitrate.

11 Plaintiff is creating a straw man argument to convince this court that due to a fictitious 12 controversy, he should preemptively obtain a declaratory judgment to prevent a hypothetical,
13 imminent harm that he has not experienced and Defendants have not threatened.

14 V. CONCLUSION

15 Based on the foregoing, Defendants respectfully request this Court deny Plaintiff's motion for 16 summary judgment as to count one of the amended complaint in its entirety.

The Contractor agrees to be subject to the general supervision of and act pursuant to the orders, advice and direction of the Principal.
4. The Contractor will perform any and all duties now and later assigned to the Contractor by the Principal. The Contractor will also perform such other duties as are customarily performed by one holding such a position in other, same or similar business or enterprises as that engaged in by the Principal.

Therefore, the Contractor will advise the Principal of the opportunity and cannot pursue the opportunity, directly or indirectly, without the written consent of the Principal.

 - a. solely or jointly with others undertake or join any planning for or organization of any business activity competitive with the current or anticipated business activities of the Principal, and

The Contractor agrees that during the term of his Contract with the Principal and for a period of five (5) years after the end of that term, the Contractor will not in any way, directly or indirectly:
 - a. Induce or attempt to induce any Contractor or contractor of the Principal to quit Contract or retained with the Principal;

Termination Due to Discontinuance of Business

28. In spite of anything contained in this Agreement to the contrary, in the event that the Principal will discontinue operating its business at the location where the Contractor is contracted, then, at the Principal's sole option, this Agreement will terminate as of the last day of the month in which the Principal ceases operations at such location with the same force and effect as if such last day of the month were originally set as the termination date of this Agreement.

Termination For Disability

29. In spite of anything contained in this Agreement to the contrary, in the event that the Principal will discontinue operating its business at the location where the Contractor is contracted, then, at the Principal's sole option, this Agreement will terminate as of the last day of the month in which the Principal ceases operations at such location with the same force and effect as if such last day of the month were originally set as the termination date of this Agreement.

30. Where the Contractor has breached any of the terms of this Agreement or where there is just cause for termination, the Principal may terminate the Contractor's Contract without notice.
31. The Contractor and the Principal agree that reasonable and sufficient notice of termination of Contract by the Principal is the greater of two weeks and any notice required under any relevant Contract legislation.
32. If the Contractor wishes to terminate his Contract with the Principal, the Contractor will provide the Principal with two weeks' notice. As an alternative, if the Contractor co-operates with the training and development of a replacement, then sufficient notice is given if it is sufficient notice to allow the Principal to find and train the replacement.
33. Should the Contractor terminate his Contract pursuant to this Agreement, and there is no constructive dismissal, the Contractor agrees to be reasonably available as a consultant for the purposes of maintaining any projects or developments created while contracted by the Principal. The Contractor agrees to negotiate the terms of the consulting work in good faith. In his capacity as a consultant for the Principal pursuant to this paragraph, the Contractor agrees to provide his present residential address and telephone number as well as his business address and telephone number.

The time specified in the notice by either the Contractor or the Principal may expire on any day of the month and upon the date of termination the Principal will forthwith pay to the Contractor any outstanding portion of the wage, accrued vacation and banked time, if any, calculated to the date of termination. Notwithstanding the date of termination, the Contractor acknowledges and agrees to diligently execute and complete his Contract responsibilities to the Principal at the reasonable direction of the Principal. Failure of the Contractor to reasonably execute his obligations to the Principal during the notice period will be considered to be an abandonment of his obligations and will be sufficient cause for immediate termination of the Contractor without compensation or notice.

Remedies

35. The Contractor agrees and acknowledges that the Confidential Information is of a proprietary and confidential nature and that any disclosure of the Confidential Information to a third party in breach of this Agreement cannot be reasonably or adequately compensated for in money damages, would cause irreparable injury to Principal, would gravely affect the effective and successful conduct of the Principal's business and goodwill, and would be a material breach of this Agreement.
36. In the event of a breach or threatened breach by the Contractor of any of the provisions of this Agreement, the Contractor agrees that the Principal is entitled to, in addition to and not in limitation of any other rights and remedies available to the Principal at law or in equity, to a permanent injunction in order to prevent or restrain any such breach by the Contractor or by the Contractor's partners, agents, representatives, servants, Contractors, and/or any and all persons directly or indirectly acting for or with the Contractor.
37. The Contractor agrees to co-operate with the Principal following termination by providing documentation and other information to permit the Principal to evaluate whether the Contractor is honoring his post-Contract obligations set out in this Agreement.

Severability

38. Principal and Contractor acknowledge that this Agreement is reasonable, valid and enforceable. However, if a court of competent jurisdiction finds any of the provisions of this Agreement to be too broad to be enforceable, it is the parties' intent that such provision be reduced in scope by the court only to the extent deemed necessary by that court to render the provision reasonable and enforceable, bearing in mind that it is the Contractor's intention to give the Principal the broadest possible protection against the disclosure of the Confidential Information, against the Contractor soliciting the Principal's Contractors and contractors and against the Contractor using such Confidential Information in competing with the Principal.
39. In the event that any of the provisions of this Agreement will be held to be invalid or unenforceable in whole or in part, those provisions to the extent enforceable and all other provisions will nevertheless continue to be valid and enforceable as though the invalid or unenforceable parts had not been included in this Agreement and the remaining provisions had been executed by both parties subsequent to the expungement of the invalid provision.

 - (iv) to demand or receive property other than cash in return for their Capital Contributions.

Section 6.7 Limitation of Liability. In carrying out its obligations hereunder, the Shareholders shall not be liable to the Company or to the Shareholders for: (a) errors of judgment; (b) any mistake of fact or of law; (c) any actions undertaken in good faith and believed to be either in furtherance of the Shareholders' obligations under this Agreement or in the best interests of the Company; or (d) any actions taken pursuant to advice of counsel to the Company.

Section 6.8 Indemnification. The Company, to the extent of its assets, hereby indemnifies the Shareholders against, and agrees to hold, save, and defend same wholly harmless from, any loss, expense, damage, or liability (including attorneys' fees and costs of litigation) suffered or incurred by any of them by reason of anything which the Shareholders may in good faith do or refrain from doing for and on behalf of the Company; provided, however, that the Company shall not be required to indemnify the Shareholders for any loss or damage that the Shareholders may incur as a result of intentional misconduct, gross negligence, fraud, or a knowing violation of law, or for any transaction for which such Shareholders received a personal benefit in violation or breach of any provision of this Agreement.

ARTICLE 7 ACCOUNTING

Section 7.1 Books and Records. The Company's books of account shall be maintained and kept at the Company's principal place of business. The Company's accounting period shall be the calendar year.

Section 7.2 Tax Information. Necessary tax information shall be delivered to each Shareholder within ninety (90) days after the end of each tax year of the Company.

ARTICLE 8 RESTRICTION ON TRANSFER OF CORPORATION INTERESTS

Section 8.1 Transfer or Assignment of Interests. No transfer, sale, hypothecation, pledge, encumbrance, assignment or other disposition (each of the foregoing, a "Transfer") of a Shareholder's Interest, or any part thereof, will be valid without the unanimous consent of the other Shareholder. Any Transfer of an Interest, including an involuntary Transfer, which does not satisfy the requirements of this Section 8.1 shall be subject to the provisions of Section 8.3 hereof; provided, however, that any Transfer by a Shareholder to a trust or other entity wholly owned by or established for the benefit of such Shareholder, or to a parent, spouse, sibling or descendant of such Shareholder or to a trust established exclusively for the benefit of one or more of such Persons (any such Transfer, a "Permitted Transfer"), shall not require consent pursuant to this Section 8.1.

Section 8.2 Right of First Refusal Upon Sale. Other than with respect to Permitted Transfers, in the event that any Shareholder receives a bona fide offer for the purchase and sale of all or any portion of such Shareholder's Interest, the Shareholder shall first offer to sell such Interest or portion thereof to the other Shareholders and to the Company in accordance with the provisions of this Section 8.2.

(a) Notice of Offer to Sell. Promptly following the receipt of an offer to purchase all or any portion of his, her or its Interest, a Shareholder shall deliver a written notice (the "Sale Notice") to the Corporation and the other Shareholders stating (i) such Shareholder's bona fide intention to sell his, her or its Interest, (ii) the name and address of the proposed transferee, (iii) the Interest or portion thereof to be sold, and (v) the purchase price and terms of payment upon which the Shareholder proposes to sell such Interest.

(b) Election to Exercise Right of First Refusal Within 30 days after receipt of the Sale Notice, each non-selling Shareholder shall notify the Manager in writing of his, her or its desire to purchase a portion of the Interest subject to the Sale Notice. The failure of any Shareholder to so notify the Manager within the applicable period shall constitute an election on the part of that Shareholder not to purchase any portion of the Interest subject to the Sale Notice. Each Shareholder so electing to purchase shall be entitled to purchase a portion of such Interest in the same proportion that the Percentage Interest of such Shareholder bears to the aggregate of the Percentage Interest of all of the Shareholders electing to so purchase the Interest subject to the Sale Notice. In the event any Shareholder elects to purchase none or less than all of his, her or its pro rata share of such Interest, then the other Shareholders can elect to purchase more than their pro rata share. If such Shareholders fail to purchase the entire Interest subject to the Sale Notice, the Company may purchase any remaining share of such Interest.

(c) Exercising Right of First Refusal. Within 90 days after receipt of the Sale Notice, the Company and the Shareholders electing to purchase the Interest subject to the Sale Notice shall exercise his or its first right to purchase or obtain such Interest upon the price and terms of payment designated in the Sale Notice by providing written notice to the other Shareholder of his election to purchase. If the Sale Notice provides for the payment of non-cash consideration, the Company and the purchasing Shareholders each may elect to pay the consideration in cash equal to the good faith estimate of the present fair market value of the non-cash consideration offered, as determined by the Managers or, in the absence of an agreement among the Managers as to such value, by a nationally recognized firm of appraisers jointly selected by the Manager. If the third party offer is all cash paid at the close of escrow, the Shareholder or company shall have the right to pay for the purchase on reasonable terms over a period not to exceed one year by executing a promissory note with interest at 6% per annum with monthly payments of principal and interest, no prepayment penalty so long as the electing Shareholder or company puts up its membership interest as collateral until the sale is completed.

(d) Lapse of Right of First Refusal. If the Company or the other Shareholders elect not to purchase or obtain all of the interest subject to the Sale Notice, then the selling Shareholder may sell the Interest described in the Sale Notice to the proposed transferee, provided such sale (i) is completed within 30 days after the expiration of the Company and the other Shareholders' right to purchase such Interest, (ii) is made on terms no less favorable to the selling Shareholder than as designated in the Sale Notice, and (iii) the requirements of Section 8.1 have been met. If such interest is not so sold, the selling Shareholder must give notice in accordance with this Section 8.2 prior to any subsequent sale of such Shareholder's Interest.

Section 8.3 Buyout Option

(a) Buyout Notice. Any Shareholder (a "Remaining Shareholder") or its designated Affiliate shall have the right (the "Buyout Option") to purchase all, but not less than all, of the Interest of any other Shareholder (a "Departing Shareholder") in the event the Departing Shareholder Transfers any portion of such Shareholder's Corporation Interest other than as permitted pursuant to Section 8.1 hereof ("Buyout Event 1"), or if the Shareholders are deadlocked for a period of at least 30 days on any decision requiring unanimous consent of the Shareholders ("Buyout Event 2"). Under Buyout Event 2 the Shareholder making the offer shall be called the Tendering Shareholder and the other Shareholder will be called the Responding Shareholder

(b) Within 30 days of receipt of notice of Buyout Event 1, the Remaining Shareholder shall give written notice (the "Buyout Notice") to the Departing Shareholder of the Remaining Shareholder's desire to purchase the Departing Shareholder's Company Interest. In the event that there is more than one Remaining Shareholder at the time a Buyout Event occurs, the Remaining Shareholders shall be entitled to exercise the Buyout Option pro rata in accordance with their respective Percentage Interests.

(c) Within thirty days (30) of receipt of the notice of Buyout Event 2, the Responding Shareholder shall have the right to elect, by delivery of written notice to the Tendering Shareholder no later than thirty (30) days following receipt of such offer by the Responding Shareholder, to either (i) sell its Ownership Interest to the Tendering Shareholder pursuant to the terms of the Offer or (ii) purchase the Ownership Interest of the Tendering Shareholder pursuant to the terms of the Offer. If the Responding Shareholder does not make such election, by written notice to the Tendering Shareholder, within thirty (30) days, then the Responding Shareholder shall be deemed to have elected to sell its Ownership Interest to the Tendering Shareholder.

(d) Purchase Price of the Shareholder's Company Interest. The purchase price of the Shareholder's Interest shall be the Fair Market Value thereof. For purposes hereof, the "Fair Market Value" of such Interest shall be such value as is mutually agreed upon among the Shareholders but shall take into consideration all inventory, accounts receivable, and cash on hand and its subsidiaries as of the date of the notice, together with a schedule of all debt of the Corporation and its subsidiaries;; provided, however, that in the event that the Shareholders are unable to agree upon a Fair Market Value within 30 days of the date of either Buyout Notice, the Fair Market Value shall be determined by an independent appraiser affiliated with a nationally recognized firm of accountants, appraisers or investment bankers and selected by the Manager in the exercise of their reasonable discretion. The appraiser shall render a written report setting forth its determination of Fair Market Value as promptly as possible.. In making such determination, the appraiser shall value the Company as a going concern and shall take into consideration (i) the transferability and liquidity of the Departing Shareholder's Interest, (ii) the fact that additional capital may be required, from time to time, in connection with the business of the Company, and (iii) the economic risk and liability associated with the ownership of such Interest. Absent manifest error, the appraiser's determination of Fair Market Value shall be final and binding on all parties. The fees and expenses of any appraiser shall be paid by the Company.

(e) Exercise Terms. The Buyout Notice, which shall be served by certified mail, return receipt requested, shall specify the date on which the Transfer pursuant to an exercise of the Buyout Option shall be consummated, which date shall be no earlier than 30 days nor later than 90 days from the date of the Buyout Notice, unless otherwise agreed by the Remaining Shareholder and the Departing Shareholder, or in the case of Buyout Event 2, between the tendering Shareholder and the Responding Shareholder. Except as may be otherwise agreed by the Remaining Shareholder and the Departing Shareholder or in the case of Buyout Event 2, between the tendering Shareholder and the Responding Shareholder, the Shareholder purchasing the other Shareholder's Ownership Interest shall pay at least 20% of the purchase price in cash, with the balance of the purchase price payable pursuant to a promissory note bearing interest at 110% of the then current applicable federal rate for mid-term obligations (as determined pursuant to Section 7872 of the Code). Such note shall be payable in equal installments of principal and interest over a period not to exceed five years. Any such promissory note may be prepaid at any time without premium or penalty. The Shareholder selling his Interest shall be transferred free and clear of all liens and encumbrances and, except as otherwise provided, the selling Shareholder shall be released at the closing from any guarantees, obligations, liabilities or similar undertakings to third parties given by such Shareholder on behalf of the Company.

(f) Further Cooperation. On the closing of the purchase and sale of the Departing Shareholder's Company Interest, or in the case of Buyout Event 2, between selling Shareholder's Company Interest pursuant to an exercise of the Buyout Option, each Shareholder shall execute, acknowledge and deliver to each other Shareholder such instruments, and take such actions, as each Shareholder may reasonably request in order to effect the purchase and sale of the Company Interest pursuant to the terms and conditions of this Section 8.3.

(g) Company Option. In the event the Remaining Shareholder under Buyout Event 1 elects not to exercise any of its rights under this Section 8.3, the Company, at its election, may assume such rights.

Section 8.4 Void Transfers. If the Managers determine in their sole discretion that any Transfer would cause the termination of the Company under the Code, then such Transfer shall be null and void.

Section 8.5 Substitution of Shareholders. A transferee of an Interest shall become a substitute Shareholder, provided that (i) the Transfer was valid under Section 8.1 hereof and not voided by the Manager pursuant to Section 8.4 hereof, (ii) the transferee has become a party to this Agreement, and (iii) the transferee pays any reasonable expenses in connection with his, her or its admission as a Shareholder. A transferee who becomes a substituted Shareholder has, to the extent transferred, all of the rights, powers and duties of a Shareholder under this Agreement and the Statute.

Section 8.6 Subsequent Transfers Subject to Terms of Agreement. After the consummation of any Transfer of any part of an Interest, the Interest or portion thereof so transferred shall continue to be subject to the terms and provisions of this Agreement and any further Transfers shall be required to comply with all the terms and provisions hereof.

Section 8.7 Purchase Terms Varied by Agreement. Provided that the restrictions set forth in this Agreement have been satisfied, nothing contained herein is intended to prohibit Shareholders from agreeing upon other terms and conditions for the purchase by the Company or any other Shareholder of the Interest (or any portion thereof) of any Shareholder desiring to retire, withdraw or resign.

Section 8.8 Spousal Consent. Each Shareholder who is married as of the date hereof or who subsequently becomes married shall obtain his or her spouse's signature to a spousal consent.

To the extent not inconsistent with the foregoing, all covenants and obligations in this Agreement shall continue in full force and effect until such time as the Company Property has been distributed pursuant to this Article 9. The Shareholders shall be responsible for overseeing the winding up and dissolution of the Company, shall take full account of the Company's liabilities and the Company Property, shall cause the Company Property to be liquidated as promptly as is consistent with obtaining the fair market value thereof.

Section 9.3 Distributions Upon Dissolution, Liquidation and Termination. Upon dissolution, liquidation and termination of the Company pursuant to Section 9.2 hereof, and subject to Section 9.4, the Shareholders shall cause all proceeds derived from the liquidation of the Company Property to be applied and distributed in the following manner and order of priority:

(a) First, to the payment and discharge of all of the Company's debts and liabilities to creditors other than Shareholders, in the order of priority as provided by law;

(b) Second, to the payment and discharge of all of the Company's debts and liabilities to Shareholders; and

(c) Thereafter, to the Shareholders in proportion to, and to the extent of, the positive balance standing in each such Shareholder's Capital Account (after taking into account all Capital Account adjustments for the taxable year of such Liquidation).

No Shareholder shall have any obligation whatsoever upon the Liquidation of such Shareholder's Interest, the Liquidation of the Company or in any other event, to contribute all or any portion of any negative balance standing in such Shareholder's Capital Account to the Company, to any other Shareholder or to any other person or entity.
